Planners seek public input for Paradise Creek restoration project

Moscow, Idaho., -- The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, University of Idaho and City of Moscow, Idaho, invites the public to participate in a joint meeting Feb. 5 to discuss an aquatic restoration project on a portion of Paradise Creek running through the University of Idaho campus in Moscow.

The team will hold an open house from 5- 6:30 p.m. in the city council chambers at Moscow City Hall, with the formal meeting beginning at 7 p.m.

The team will address possible options for providing aquatic ecosystem restoration by reestablishing lost riparian-wetland habitat along Paradise Creek. Attendees will have the opportunity to ask questions, discuss concerns and provide ideas regarding the proposed project.

For more information about this meeting and the project, call Dave Dankel at the Walla Walla District, USACE, at (509) 527-7288 or Andrew Conkey, University of Idaho, at (208) 885-7359.
